The flowchart illustrates a sequence of steps for sending a message. It begins with a box containing a numbered list: '1 To', '2 Subj;', and '3 Text', with a handwritten '342~' to its left. An arrow points down to a box with 'Edit' and 'Send' options, with a handwritten '~344' to its right. From 'Send', an arrow points down to a box for 'Send To:' with the name 'Herb Jellinek' and a cursor icon, followed by 'OK' and 'alpha', and a handwritten '~346' to its right. Another arrow points down to a box for 'Subject:' with the text 'Your Message' and a cursor icon, followed by 'OK' and 'alpha', and a handwritten '~348' to its right. A final arrow points down to a box for 'Your Message:' with the text 'Regarding the message from Herb Jellinek' and a cursor icon, followed by 'OK' and 'alpha'. A last arrow points down to a box stating 'Message has been sent.' with 'Main' below it and a handwritten '~356' at the bottom.
